Protecting your fuel supply has been and always will be our mission.

Nuclear energy is essential to combat climate change and meet carbon emission initiatives. It takes all of us to achieve these goals.

We are a committed and trusted partner with a long history of delivering a secure supply of the most advanced nuclear fuel technologies in the world. With unmatched safety and regulatory records, our dedicated team of experts is focused on our customers’ needs not just for today, but tomorrow and the next generation.

Together, we’re continuing to write stories of success. Read the whole story at framatome.com/stories.

Your performance is our everyday commitment.