PRESIDENT'S REPORT TO THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS
OF THE AMERICAN NUCLEAR SOCIETY

The past year as President of ANS has been a rewarding experience for me, and I hope my leadership has provided value to the Society. As I look back, I am glad I did it and grateful for the opportunity. I thank and appreciate the members of the Society for placing their trust in me and allowing me to contribute in this leadership role.

During my tenure as President I have focused on several related themes, and I believe we have made good progress in each area.

- Adaptation and Evolution at ANS – ANS does many great things that contribute to advancing the nuclear community and supporting the professionals in it. To achieve this objective on a sustained basis, ANS, like any high-performing organization, must adapt and evolve with the changing landscape and needs of its members, the nuclear community, and society as a whole. We've worked to shift the culture of ANS in two ways:
 - Increasing the focus on delivering value to members and stakeholders. We need to regularly pause and ask ourselves, "How are our members benefiting from this activity? Can we do it even better and deliver more value?" We need to understand how our members define value and provide it to them.
 - Making decisions and taking action with a forward-looking perspective. Unfortunately, and perhaps not surprisingly, there are some aspects of ANS operations that are still performed "the way we've always done them." Changes in technology, business norms, and society all have an impact on how our members expect ANS to deliver. Just as we should pause and ask how we can deliver enhanced value, we must also ask, "Should I be doing this differently to be more effective today or in the future?"
- Empowering the Next Generation – Most of ANS's members are in either the first or final stages of their careers. The more "seasoned" professionals bring decades of valuable experience and associated insights. The younger professionals bring passion and potential energy. It is time for my generation to pass the baton to the next generation of leaders—in ANS and in the nuclear community. Working together, we can deliver to our stakeholders and empower the next generation of nuclear professionals at the same time.
- Refreshing and Invigorating ANS – ANS has a solid Strategic Plan. Our vision, mission, and objectives are important and consistent with member expectations. However, we need to refresh the Strategic Plan to better align it with our situation today and make it more effective in guiding the Society and inspiring members and future members to take actions that will invigorate ANS and benefit all of us.

The Strategic Direction summary and the changes we will make to the Strategic Plan at the upcoming Board meeting should help considerably in achieving these goals.

Collectively, the work in these areas is shifting ANS culture – and shifting it in good ways. I hear more leaders talking about opportunity to change and less talking about barriers to change. We need to maintain this direction and this energy as the senior leadership of the Society. ANS is getting stronger and setting a solid foundation for sustained success.

It is important for everyone in the nuclear community to be proud of their contributions and proud of being nuclear professionals. It's easy to forget the many important benefits provided by nuclear technology. Energy, power, medicine, food—these are all industries that benefit greatly from nuclear technology. We, the senior leaders of ANS, need to set the standard for getting this message out and living it ourselves.

Over the past year I have had the honor to represent ANS at the following events (and likely a few more that I missed):

- ANS Annual Meeting – June 2017 – San Francisco, CA
- Latin America Nuclear Society Meeting – June 2017 – Mexico City, Mexico

Finally, I have been able to travel extensively for ANS without using my ANS credit card a single time and not submitting a single receipt to ANS for reimbursement. Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditors' judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of American Nuclear Society Incorporated as of December 31, 2017 and 2016, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The schedule of functional expenses on page 23 is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the financial statements. Such information is the responsibility of management and was derived from and relates directly to the underlying accounting and other records used to prepare the financial statements. The schedule of functional expenses has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the financial statements and certain additional procedures, including comparing and reconciling such information directly to the underlying accounting and other records used to prepare the financial statements or to the financial statements themselves, and other additional procedures in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. (A Non-Profit Corporation)

FOR THE YEARS ENDED DECEMBER 31, 2017 AND 2016

NOTE 1 - NATURE OF OPERATIONS AND SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

NATURE OF OPERATIONS

The American Nuclear Society Incorporated (the “Society”) is a non-profit international membership organization comprised of individuals engaged in the activities in one or more of the fields of nuclear science and engineering or allied fields with 10,311 and 10,590 members as of December 31, 2017 and 2016, respectively. The Society serves its members in their efforts to develop and safely apply nuclear science and technology for public benefit through knowledge exchange, professional development and enhanced public understanding. The Society’s fiscal operations include publishing, meetings and conventions, membership activities, and investments of reserve funds. Operating support is derived approximately 42 percent from publication activities, 34 percent from meeting activity, 8 percent from membership activity, and 16 percent from contributions and other income for the year ended December 31, 2017. Operating support is derived approximately 43 percent from publication activities, 31 percent from meeting activity, 8 percent from membership activity, and 18 percent from contributions and other income for the year ended December 31, 2016.

BASIS OF PRESENTATION

The accounts of the Society are maintained in accordance with the principles of fund accounting, whereby resources are classified for accounting and reporting purposes into net assets established according to their nature and purposes:

- Unrestricted net assets – Represents the portion of expendable funds that are available for the daily operations of the Society, which are not limited by donor restriction on use, and include funds designated by the board of directors for specific purposes.
- Temporarily restricted net assets – Consists of donor-restricted contributions received with specific time or purpose restrictions. Upon satisfaction of time or purpose restrictions, temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets and reported in the statement of activities as net assets released from restrictions.
- Permanently restricted net assets - Subject to donor-imposed restrictions requiring the principal to be maintained in perpetuity and the income to be used only for certain purposes.

The Society has presented its statement of financial position in an unclassified manner, but in order of liquidity.

CASH AND CASH EQUIVALENTS

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, the Society considers money market funds and short-term investments with original maturities of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Cash paid for income taxes was $0 and $41,000 during the years ended December 31, 2017 and 2016, respectively.

Cash flows from operating activities reflect cash payments for interest of $4,275 and $0 for the years ended December 31, 2017 and 2016, respectively.

CASH BALANCES IN EXCESS OF INSURED AMOUNTS

The Society maintains its cash in bank accounts which, at times, may exceed federally insured limits. The Society has not experienced any losses in such accounts.

INVESTMENTS AND INCOME RECOGNITION

Investments are reflected at fair value based on quoted prices in active markets and changes in fair value are recorded as unrealized gains or losses. Gains and losses on investments are reported as increases or decreases in unrestricted net assets, unless their use is restricted by explicit donor stipulation or by law.

The Society's investments are exposed to various risks such as interest rate, market and credit risks. Due to the level of risk associated with such investments and the level of uncertainty related to changes in the value of such investments, it is at least reasonably possible that changes in risks in the near term would materially affect investment balances and the amounts reported in the financial statements.

ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE

Accounts receivable include amounts due for publication, advertising and meeting activities and are presented net of an allowance for doubtful accounts in order to reflect management's estimate of the amount that will ultimately be collected. Interest is not charged on outstanding balances. Management, based on a quarterly review basis, provides for probable uncollectible amounts through charges to bad debt expense and an increase to the allowance for doubtful accounts, based primarily on the age of the receivables and historical collection experience. The allowance for doubtful accounts as of December 31, 2017 and 2016 was approximately $28,000 and $128,000, respectively.

PROPERTY AND EQUIPMENT

Property and equipment are recorded at cost. Additions and improvements to existing property and equipment during the year are capitalized, while general maintenance and repairs are charged to expense. It is the Society's policy to capitalize expenditures for long-lived assets if they are over $1,000 and have an economic life greater than one year. Depreciation is provided using the straight-line basis over the following estimated useful lives:

	Years
Building and building improvements	10-32
Furniture and equipment	3-7
Vehicles	5

ELECTRONIC DATA

The Society capitalized the costs relating to an online membership database which was placed into service in June, 2015. These costs are being amortized over seven years, until the year ended December 31, 2022.

IMPAIRMENT OF LONG-LIVED ASSETS

The Society reviews long-lived assets for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of such assets may not be recoverable. There were no impairment indicators at December 31, 2017 or 2016.

POST-RETIREMENT BENEFITS

The accrual for post-retirement benefits reflects the Society's obligation to provide future health care insurance to certain former employees and their spouses and beneficiaries.

REVENUE RECOGNITION

Membership dues are deferred and recognized ratably as revenue in the period to which they apply. The Society recognizes revenue from the sale of publications upon shipment to customers. Meeting revenues are recognized in the period in which each meeting occurs. Special project revenue and expenses generally are deferred until the year of completion. Amounts collected in advance for future years are reflected as deferred revenue.

The Society reports contributions, including unconditional promises to give, as revenue in the period the unconditional contribution or promise is received. Contributions of cash and other assets are reported as restricted support if received with donor stipulations that limit the use of the contribution. Depending on the nature of the restriction, such contributions are reported as an increase in temporarily or permanently restricted net assets. Conditional promises to give are not recognized until the conditions on which they depend are substantially met. When the donor restriction expires (when a stipulated time restriction ends or purpose restriction is accomplished), temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets and reported in the statements of activities as net assets released from restrictions. Contributions received with donor-imposed restrictions which are met within the same year are recorded as unrestricted revenue.

During 2016, the Society changed its method of accounting for page charges. The Society believes that the new method, which records the revenue when collected rather than invoiced, is more appropriate as collectability is not reasonably assured until ultimate collection.

INCOME TAXES

The Society is exempt from income taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and applicable state law. In addition, the Society has been determined by the Internal Revenue Service not to be a "private foundation" within the meaning of Section 509(a) of the Internal Revenue Code. However, net income from certain activities not directly related to the Society's tax-exempt purpose, such as advertising income, is subject to taxation as unrelated business income.

The Society accounts for any potential interest or penalties related to the possible future liabilities for unrecognized income tax benefits as interest/other expense. There was no income tax related interest or penalties during the years ended December 31, 2017 and 2016.

The Society has reviewed the tax positions for the open tax years (current and prior three tax years) and has concluded that an estimated overpayment exists as of December 31, 2017 and 2016 in the amount of $18,072 and $73,409, respectively. This amount represents overpayments for tax on unrelated business income (advertising) and is included in prepaid expenses at December 31, 2017 and 2016. Income tax expense was $5,454 and $22,380 for the years ended December 31, 2017 and 2016, respectively, and is included in other income (expense) on the statement of activities and changes in net assets. At December 31, 2017 and 2016, there were no unrecognized tax benefits identified or recorded as liabilities. Generally, federal, state and local authorities may examine the Society's tax returns for three years from the date of filing.

USE OF ESTIMATES

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

The Society has evaluated subsequent events or transactions that occurred through June 7, 2018, the date the financial statements were available to be issued. No events requiring recognition or disclosure in the financial statements were identified.

NOTE 2 - INVESTMENTS

The components of net investment return at December 31, 2017 and 2016 are as follows:

	2017	2016
Interest and dividends	$ 510,805	$ 395,971
Net realized and unrealized gains (losses)	2,554,336	820,945
Investment fees	(85,896)	(103,967)
Total	$2,979,245	$1,112,949

NOTE 3 - FAIR VALUE MEASUREMENTS

Fair value is defined as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. There are three approaches to measuring the fair value of assets and liabilities: 1) the market approach, 2) the income approach and 3) the cost approach. Each of these approaches includes multiple valuation techniques. Accounting standards do not prescribe which valuation technique should be used when measuring fair value, but does establish a fair value hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs used in applying the various techniques. Inputs broadly refer to the assumptions that market participants use to make pricing decisions, including assumption about risk. Level 1 inputs are given the highest priority in the hierarchy while Level 3 inputs are given the lowest priority. Assets and liabilities carried at fair value are classified in one of the following three categories based upon the nature of the inputs to the valuation technique used:

Level 1

Observable inputs that reflect unadjusted quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities in active markets as of the reporting date. Active markets are those in which transactions for the asset or liability occur in sufficient frequency and volume to provide pricing information on an ongoing basis.

Level 2

Observable market-based inputs or unobservable inputs that are corroborated by market data.

Level 3

Unobservable inputs that are not corroborated by market data. These inputs reflect management's best estimate of fair value using its own assumptions about the assumptions a market participant would use in pricing the asset or liability.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Investments are the Society's only financial assets accounted for at fair value on a recurring basis, and are accounted for using level 1 inputs as follows: fixed income funds (bonds) and marketable equity securities (common stock) at quoted market prices. Level 2 fixed income funds (corporate bonds) are valued using observable inputs, including interest rates and maturity dates.

The following table sets forth, by level within the fair value hierarchy, the Society's only assets that were accounted for at fair value on a recurring basis as of and December 31, 2017 and 2016. As required, these assets are classified in their entirety based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement. The Society's assessment of the significance of a particular input to the fair value measurement requires judgment and may affect their placement within the fair value hierarchy levels.

Multi-asset funds, which are measured at fair value using the net asset value per share practical expedient, have not been classified in the fair value hierarchy. The fair value amounts presented in this table are intended to permit reconciliation of the fair value hierarchy to the amounts presented in the statement of financial position. Multi-asset funds invest in diversified, multi-asset portfolios which include equity securities, bonds and other fixed income securities, and non-U.S. securities, among others. The fair values of the investments in this class have been estimated using the net asset value per share of the investments. There are no unfunded commitments or redemption restrictions on the funds.

POST-RETIREMENT HEALTHCARE BENEFITS (CONTINUED)

The assumed health care cost trend rates used to determine the benefit obligation for the years ended December 31, 2017 and 2016, respectively, were:

SCHOLARSHIPS AND AWARD FUNDS

The Society plays an important role in helping students complete their post-high school education and prepare for careers in nuclear science and technology (“NS&T”). More than 20 scholarships named after pioneers and leaders in NS&T and other general scholarships are awarded each year to students with outstanding academic credentials. Special scholarships are available to students who have significant economic needs in order to pursue degrees in NS&T.

CENTER FOR NUCLEAR SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY INFORMATION

As an initiative of the Society, the Center for Nuclear Science and Technology Information was conceived to increase understanding of the basic science of the atomic nucleus. Its focus is on the principles of nuclear science and technology, and how brilliant people are employing these principles to improve the human condition. The goal is to change the conversation about nuclear.

Navigating Nuclear: Energizing Our World is a K-12 nuclear energy education program in conjunction with Discovery Education. Led by the Society’s Center for Nuclear Science and Technology Information, the three-phase program will reach middle school, high school, and elementary school students throughout the country as part of Discovery Education’s curricular services. Navigating Nuclear will provide educators with the tools to present the science and application of nuclear in energy as well as medicine, space exploration, food preservation, and molecular science.

INTERPRETATION OF RELEVANT LAW

The Society's governing board has interpreted the Uniform Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act ("UPMIFA") enacted in the State of Illinois as requiring the preservation of the fair value of the original gifts as of the gift date of the donor-restricted endowment funds absent explicit donor stipulations to the contrary. As a result of this interpretation, the Society classifies as permanently restricted net assets (a) the original value of the gifts donated to the permanent endowment, (b) the original value of subsequent gifts to the permanent endowment, and (c) accumulations to the permanent endowment made in accordance with the direction of the applicable donor gift instrument at the time the accumulation is added to the fund.

In accordance with UPMIFA, the Society considers the following factors in making a determination to appropriate or accumulate donor-restricted endowment funds:

1. The duration and preservation of the fund
2. The purposes of the Society and the donor-restricted endowment fund
3. General economic conditions
4. The possible effect of inflation and deflation
5. The expected total return from income and the appreciation of investments
6. Other resources of the Society
7. The investment policies of the Society

FUNDS WITH DEFICIENCIES

From time to time, the fair value of assets associated with individual donor - restricted endowment funds may fall below the level that the donor or UPMIFA requires the Society to retain as a fund of perpetual duration. There were no endowment funds with a deficit fund balance in 2017 and 2016.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

RETURN OBJECTIVES AND RISK PARAMETERS

The Society adopted investment and spending policies for endowment assets that attempt to provide a predictable stream of funding to programs supported by its endowment while seeking to maintain the purchasing power of the endowment assets. Endowment assets include those assets of donor-restricted funds that the Society must hold in perpetuity. Under this policy, the endowment assets are invested in a manner that is intended to produce results that over time meet or exceed the total return target set in the investment policy, while assuming a moderate level of investment risk.

STRATEGIES EMPLOYED FOR ACHIEVING OBJECTIVES

To satisfy its long-term rate-of-return objectives, the Society relies on a total return strategy in which investment returns are achieved through both capital appreciation (realized and unrealized) and current yield (interest and dividends). The Society targets a diversified asset allocation that places a greater emphasis on fixed income investments to achieve its long-term return objective within prudent risk constraints.

SPENDING POLICY AND HOW THE INVESTMENT OBJECTIVES RELATE TO SPENDING POLICY

The Society's annual distribution policy appropriates an amount of the endowment assets based on the operating budget and the needs of the Society.

NOTE 10 - COMMITMENTS

During December, 2017, the Society entered into a three-year agreement with a third-party to develop a curriculum on nuclear science (see Note 8). The total cost of the agreement is $1,466,000, of which no payments have been made as of December 31, 2017. The Society has the right to terminate the agreement at certain points throughout the project, at which point the subsequent obligation would be reduced accordingly.

To the Board of Directors and Management of American Nuclear Society
555 N. Kensington Avenue
LaGrange Park, Illinois 60526

We have audited the financial statements of American Nuclear Society for the year ended December 31, 2017, and have issued our report thereon dated June 7, 2018. Professional standards require that we provide you with information about our responsibilities under generally accepted auditing standards, as well as certain information related to the planned scope and timing of our audit.

Our Responsibility under U.S. Generally Accepted Auditing Standards

As stated in our engagement letter dated April 10, 2018, our responsibility, as described by professional standards, is to express an opinion about whether the financial statements prepared by management with your oversight are fairly presented, in all material respects, in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. Our audit of the financial statements does not relieve you or management of your responsibilities.

Our responsibility for the supplementary information accompanying the financial statements, as described by professional standards, is to evaluate the presentation of the supplementary information in relation to the financial statements as a whole and to report on whether the supplementary information is fairly stated, in all material respects, in relation to the financial statements as a whole.

An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements; therefore, our audit involved judgment about the number of transactions to be examined and the areas to be tested.

Our audit included obtaining an understanding of the Organization and its environment, including internal control, sufficient to assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements and to design the nature, timing, and extent of further audit procedures.

Professional standards also require that we communicate to you the following information related to our audit.

Significant Audit Findings

Qualitative Aspects of Accounting Practices

Management is responsible for the selection and use of appropriate accounting policies. The significant accounting policies used by American Nuclear Society are described in Note 1 to the financial statements. No new accounting policies were adopted and the application of existing policies was not changed during 2017. We noted no transactions entered into by the Organization during the year for which there is a lack of authoritative guidance or consensus. All significant transactions have been recognized in the financial statements in the proper period.

Accounting estimates are an integral part of the financial statements prepared by management and are based on management's knowledge and experience about past and current events and assumptions about future events. Certain accounting estimates are particularly sensitive because of their significance to the financial statements and because of the possibility that future events affecting them may differ significantly from those expected. The most sensitive estimates affecting the financial statements was were:

Management's estimate of the methodology used in allocating expenses in the Schedule of Functional Expenses includes a significant amount of management's estimates. We evaluated the key factors and assumptions used to develop the methodology used in allocating expenses in the statement of functional expenses in determining that it is reasonable in relation to the financial statements taken as a whole.

Management's estimate of the allowance for doubtful accounts is based on both known and the potential unknown uncollectible or questionable accounts receivable balances. We evaluated the key factors and assumptions used to develop the allowance for doubtful accounts in determining that it is reasonable in relation to the financial statements taken as a whole.

Management's estimate of the discount rate used to value the pension liabilities is based on the Citigroup Pension Discount Curve. We evaluated the key factors and assumptions used to develop the discount rate estimate in determining that it is reasonable in relation to the financial statements taken as a whole.

Certain financial statement disclosures are particularly sensitive because of their significance to financial statement users. The financial statement disclosures are neutral, consistent, and clear.

Difficulties Encountered in Performing the Audit

We encountered no significant difficulties in dealing with management in performing and completing our audit.

Disagreements with Management

For purposes of this letter, a disagreement with management is a financial accounting, reporting, or auditing matter, whether or not resolved to our satisfaction, that could be significant to the financial statements or the auditors' report. We are pleased to report that no such disagreements arose during the course of our audit.

Management Representations

We have requested certain representations from management that are included in the management representation letter dated June 7, 2018.

Management Consultations with Other Independent Accountants

In some cases, management may decide to consult with other accountants about auditing and accounting matters, similar to obtaining a "second opinion" on certain situations. If a consultation involves application of an accounting principle to the Organization's financial statements or a determination of the type of auditors' opinion that may be expressed on those statements, our professional standards require the consulting accountant to check with us to determine that the consultant has all the relevant facts. To our knowledge, there were no such consultations with other accountants.

Other Audit Findings or Issues

We generally discuss a variety of matters, including the application of accounting principles and auditing standards, with management each year prior to retention as the Organization's auditors. However, these discussions occurred in the normal course of our professional relationship and our responses were not a condition to our retention.

Other Matters

With respect to the supplementary information accompanying the financial statements, we made certain inquiries of management and evaluated the form, content, and methods of preparing the information to determine that the information complies with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles, the method of preparing it has not changed from the prior period, and the information is appropriate and complete in relation to our audit of the financial statements. We compared and reconciled the supplementary information to the underlying accounting records used to prepare the financial statements or to the financial statements themselves.

This information is intended solely for the use of the Board of Directors and Management of American Nuclear Society and is not intended to be, and should not be, used by anyone other than these specified parties.

Very truly yours,

Marcum LLP
