Membership and What your Support Means

Organization Membership (OM) provides your organization recognition for its commitment to the advancement of nuclear science and technology. Your OM dues support a broad range of ANS endeavors, including the development of standards, representation in Washington, public outreach initiatives such as the Center for Nuclear Science and Technology, publications, meetings, student scholarships, and more.

Milestones and the Road Ahead

The ANS membership ranks include 11,000 scientists, engineers, other professionals, and industry-leading OMs, domestic and international. ANS continues to build on its 60-year history of supporting nuclear professionals, championing advances in the industry, and educating the public.
