DISCLOSURE OF COPYRIGHTED MATERIAL IN ANS STANDARDS

The Policy on Handling References in Standards [C3] provides working groups direction in citing references and in using third-party material in an ANS standard. Material may generally be extracted freely from U.S. government publications and regulations if a U.S. government organization developed the material since that material is publicly released. Equations may generally be excerpted from copyrighted material without permission if properly referenced. Copyright protection applies to material (except equations) excerpted from the published document and does not apply to the ideals and principles behind the presentation. Regardless of copyright, credit should be given. This form shall be completed by the Working Group Chair and sent to ANS standards staff with a copy to the Consensus Committee Chair for all standards that are sent for subcommittee ballot. Based on this information, ANS staff will obtain the necessary copyright permission if required.

A notice was issued June 20, 2016, by Standards Board Chair George Flanagan, to notify working group chairs that the Standards Board has requested information about definitions in draft standards before a draft is issued for ballot outside the working group. Working group chairs are asked to consult the Standards Committee Glossary and identify 1) any changes to definitions in revised standards, 2) newly created definitions, and/or 3) any uses of alternate definitions. The Glossary is available at <http://cdn.ans.org/standards/resources/toolkit/docs/glossary-of-definitions.pdf>.
